In-

The infants enjoyed some big body movement this week.

The older children crawled through the tunnel, explored the snow in the outdoor classroom and ran around in the gym. The younger infants are still working really hard at sitting independently and crawling.

Younger

Toddlers

What a snowy week! We brought snow inside and painted it. We also ate lots of snow. We have been reading Circus Ship over and over and over again. Have a great weekend!

Older Toddlers

What a crazy cold, snowy week! We even had a snow day. Older toddlers stayed busy covering our bodies in paint and painting snow! Roy made our snow hill HUGE and we made three different snow slides from the top!

Both the Norovirus and the Flu have found toddlers, we are deep cleaning daily but please, please, please do a health check before coming to school and keep your child home if they show signs of being sick. Please remember your child may not attend toddlers on an active dose of a fever reducer even if you think that they might be teething.

Younger Preschool

We had so much fun in the snow this week! We trudge our way through the deepest snow to get the largest snow mountains, we made lots of paints for loved ones in honor of Valentine's Day, and got out lots of energy through bouncy and spinny chairs.

Please stay healthy and have fun in the snow!!

Older Preschool

Winter decided to show up!

We hope everyone had fun and relaxing snow days! This week we did some more marble painting, talked about love and Valentine's Day, explored animal tracks, enjoyed building with magna-tiles, played with dress up!

Have a fun weekend! :)

Kindergarten

This week in kindergarten was great!! We got new snow and we're excited to go explore in it!! We painted with bubbles, explored ramps and pathways, talked about textures, and continued to work on simple math problems and fine motor skills.

We hope everyone has a fantastic weekend!! Enjoy the new snow and we will see you next week!

Rising Hawk

Roses are Red

Lots of snow, lots of snowball fights! This week we spent lots of time in the snow. We had a few snow days and delays so we took full advantage of being at the main site by sledding and going to the woods for a huge snow ball fight! Enjoy the weekend stay happy and healthy!!
